EUNIDA: a unique tool for implementing European Development Aid

EUNIDA is the European Network of Implementing Development Agencies, combining the EU Member States' resources, expertise and implementing capacities in the field of technical assistance. EUNIDA offers a platform for jointly designing and implementing capacity development programmes in strategic policy areas such as security sector reform, public sector reform, employability and social inclusion, health, migration or civil society development.

Implementing projects through EUNIDA means delegating activities to a flexible grouping of EU Member State agencies, rather than handing them to single Member State agencies or to International Organisations. In doing so, EUNIDA aims at increasing effectiveness and coordination in the realisation of the EU's strategic development policy objectives, while enhancing the European visibility of the EU's development programmes on the ground.
